Arbitrage is the strategy of taking advantage of price differences in different markets for the same asset. 4. LIQUIDATION LEVEL.

The Company reserves the right to automatically liquidate the position and the Customer will be responsible for all losses as a result of the liquidation. The Company reserves the right to change the Liquidation Level at its sole discretion.

5. Prices from The Company are independent of prices found elsewhere.

Customers acknowledge that the prices reported by The Company for buying and selling currency pairs are independent and can differ from the prices displayed elsewhere or from other liquidity providers in the interbank market. Differences can result from, but are not limited to, changes in liquidity from interbank market makers to Evalanch Ltd, an unbalanced position or exposure in currency pairs at Evalanch Ltd, or differing expectations of price movements in currency pairs by The Company. The Company expects that in most cases the prices provided to its Customers will be in line with the general interbank market but does not warrant or imply that this will always be the case.

6. Rollover rates for open positions of currency pairs are determined by The Company and are independent of prices found elsewhere in the Interbank market.

Customer acknowledges that all existing Spot Open Positions that remain open over the end of business day for Evalanch Ltd, defined as 17:00 EST/EDT, are automatically rolled over to the next available Spot Settlement Date at a net debit or credit to the Customer(s) Account as determined by spot interest rates determined solely by The Company. In general, if the Customer is long a currency that has higher spot interest rate than the currency that Customer is short; the Customer can expect a net credit added to the Customer's Account value at the end of day. If the Customer is short a currency that has a higher spot interest rate than the currency that the Customer is short, the Customer can expect a net debit subtracted from the Customer Account Value at the end of the day. Rollover debits and credits are also influenced by the number of days that the position must be rolled. For positions that need to be rolled from a spot settlement date of Friday to Monday, the debit or credit will reflect rollover from Friday to Monday or three business days. For rollovers from Monday to Tuesday, Tuesday to Wednesday, Wednesday to Thursday and Thursday to Friday, the rollover debit or credit is for only one business day. If there is a holiday and The Company is closed, the rollover would take into consideration the holiday. For example, if Tuesday is a holiday, rollovers from Monday will be for two (2) business days (i.e., from Monday to Wednesday). Since rollover debits and credits are determined by the respective short-term spot interest rates of the respective currencies that make up a currency pair, a large spread from one currencies rate in relation to another's can cause a large debit or credit rollover amount. This spread can result, but is not limited to, countries tightening of credit conditions to dissuade speculators from shorting a currency versus another. The Bank of England in the early 1990's raised short term interest rates to over 20% to dissuade currency speculators from selling Sterling against other currencies when the Pound Sterling came under pressure by speculators. In this situation, those who were short STG and long US Dollars were forced to rollover their spot positions at a large debit from one spot settlement date to the next. By doing so the Bank of England was attempting to dissuade currency speculators from selling STG over spot and rolling over the position from one day to the next. The action was intended to force those who were short STG, to cover their positions before the end of the day forcing an underlying bid into the currency. Year-end and quarter-end periods can also cause unusual spikes in short- term interest rates that may cause temporary spikes in rollover debits and credits. Customers acknowledge that there exists a rollover risk to currency positions. The Company will display the rollover debits or credits for the respective currencies' pairs in the The Company application and automatically update Customer Reports to reflect the cash flow. The Company reserves the right to change the credits or debits at its sole discretion if the original amounts are in wrong due to an error or omission.

7. Sweep rates for currency balances other than USD are determined by The Company and may be independent of prices found elsewhere in the Interbank market.

Profits that are calculated in a foreign currency are "swept" into dollars when the open positions are closed and the Profit and Loss realized. For example, if a Customer buys one (1) lot of USD/JPY at 115.00 and sells the same one (1) lot at 116.00, the realized profit on the transaction would be:

Since the realized profit is in Yen, the amount must be swept into US dollars by selling Yen and buying USD. If the exchange rate for the USD/JPY exchange rate is 116.05, the 100,000 Yen are converted and swept into USD at 116.05 creating a USD realized profit of $861.70 ($100,000 / 116.05 = \861.70). When trading in currencies where the secondary currency is USD (i.e., EUR/USD and GBP/USD), the realized profit and loss is already stated in USD. As a result, the Profit or Loss does not have to be swept. There is No Guarantee of Profit from Trading with Evalanch Ltd: Customer acknowledges that neither The Company nor any of its representatives guarantees to the Customer that they will profit from trading or investing in FX. Customer further acknowledges that they could sustain the loss of their entire Risk Capital deposited in their Account and are financially able to withstand any losses incurred.

8. There is No Guarantee that The Company will be able to execute stop loss orders, limit orders or OCO Orders at the Customer Entered Price.

Customer acknowledges and agrees that there may be market, liquidity or other conditions that will prevent The Company from executing Customers specific Stop Loss Orders, Limit Orders or OCO Orders at the Customer designated price. In some cases the orders will be executed at prices that are less favorable to the price entered and desired by the Customer. The Customer acknowledges and agrees that they are still responsible for trades executed at levels different from their orders and that The Company is not liable for failure to do so.

9. There is technology risk inherent in trading online or via a software application.

Although The Company has invested a lot of resources developing, testing, configuring and integrating the Trading Platform and other relevant software and hardware, the Customer acknowledges and agrees that The Company does not guarantee that the Customer will be able to successful execute transaction, monitor their positions, or perform other essential tasks of The Company while using the public Internet and other technology from The Company or from third party vendors known or not known for which The Company may rely on. The Company cannot control, without limitation, the routing, Internet connectivity, reliability of customer or The Company equipment, network connections or any other technology hardware malfunction caused by The Company hardware, hardware and connectivity that makes up the public Internet, or hardware at the Customers location. Nor does The Company guarantee, although all effort has been made to the contrary, that the Trading Platform and Associated Back Office and Broker Software Interfaces nor any other code or application including but not limited to the interface with The Company liquidity provider(s) or the interface with the escrow Account institution or other technology application that would come under the heading software, are error-free and would not lead to communications problems, computer software or hardware breakdowns, malfunctioning errors, and any and all problems or glitches associated with computer problems or any other technical cause or causes . Customer acknowledges and agrees that The Company provides Trading Platform and Associated Back Office and Broker Software Interfaces “as is,” without any warranties of merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose, or other express or implied warranties.

10. PAYMENTS AND REFUND POLICY

The Company and all its sites use several Merchant Solutions (“Merchant Solutions”) for online payment, order processing, order delivery, and other merchant solutions. Billing occurs at the time of or shortly after your transaction. If a credit card is being used for a transaction, The Company may obtain preapproval for an amount up to the amount of the order. You agree that you will pay for all products you purchase through the Merchant Solutions, and that The Company may charge your credit card for any products purchased.

All sales of products are final. Fees paid for products and services are non-refundable. Prices for products offered via the Merchant Solutions may change at any time, and the Merchant Solutions does not provide price protection or refunds in the event of a price reduction or promotional offering.

If a product becomes unavailable following a transaction but prior to download, your sole remedy is a refund. If technical problems prevent or unreasonably delay delivery of your product, your exclusive and sole remedy is either replacement or refund of the price paid, as determined by The Company

We take such matters seriously, and legal measures or actions will be initiated to address and rectify any false statements made.
